Is a physician who obtained education in a medical school and specializes in diagnosing and treating mental disorders by utilizing medical interventions and medications.